EDITOR TRACES FIRST NATIONAL BANK HISTORY

How the First National Bank of Gettysburg began in the midst of one of the nation's worst depressions and survived to grow steadily ever since was outlined Tuesday evening by Harris Vennema, Philadelphia, editor of The Pennsylvania Banker, at the regular meeting of the Adams County Historical Society held in the society's rooms in the Court House.

Describing George Throne, first president and founder of the bank, as "a man of tremendous courage," the speaker said "to appreciate his courage we must understand something about the nation's financial and banking setup of the time. We still speak with awe and fear of our depression in the 1930s, but it was minor compared to the panics of a century ago.

"The nation had been suffering from depressions for about five or ten years prior to 1857, the year the First National Bank of Gettysburg came into existence, but the whole bottom fell out of things in that year. It was so bad they called it the Panic of 1857.

Ignored Charter

"Despite the fact that he had picked the worst period of history—not excluding 1932-33—in which to launch his bank, George Throne was a hard-headed, stubborn Pennsylvania Dutch individualist, and he went ahead despite panics and despite the Pennsylvania Legislature. The Legislature had been looking sourly upon new banks, simply refusing most applications for charters. Throne and the other shareholders of what was to become the First National of Gettysburg had petitioned for a charter before 1857 and were refused. So, deciding the town needed his bank, George Throne simply started without a charter. It was illegal but effective. A year later, the state Legislature, discovering that the Farmers and Mechanics Savings Institution, original name of the First National, was thriving in Gettysburg, recognized the firmness of Throne's intentions by extending the charter to the bank.

"It was not news, in 1857, when a new bank opened. It was only advertising. The Adams Sentinel and General Advertiser, a weekly Gettysburg newspaper, carried no story on page one. On an inside page was an advertisement.

"Considering the insecurity and recklessness of the times, it took courage to advertise deposits payable on demand without notice. Even today, if you read the fine print, you'll notice that most banks reserve the right to have 30 days notice before paying you your deposits. They ordinarily don't make an issue of it, but the requirement is generally there.

"Considering that the panic of 1857 came within four months of the opening of the bank, it is astonishing that the bank not only survived but flourished. For that original pledged $10,000 of deposits had grown to $354,540.17 by the time of the first statement.

"The national banking act was (Please Turn to Page 5)

Post $27 Bond In Appeal To Court

John W. Young, 45, of East Berlin, found guilty of reckless driving before Justice of the Peace George A. Lippy, Hanover, Monday night, posted $27, double the amount of the fine and costs, on an appeal to the York County Court from the conviction.

Young was charged by state police of the Gettysburg subdivision with striking the parked car of J. Leonard Palmer, Hanover, opposite the Hotel McAllister, the night of December 10. Sgt. Joseph E. Temple and Pfc. James Treas were walking in the vicinity of the crash, they said, and investigated the accident.

Musser, who was introduced by W. Clayton Jester, member of the Upper Adams Lions and a national soil conservation director, described benefits accruing to his farm from the contour plowing, farm pond and other conservation measures begun on the farm about ten years ago.

Jester was introduced by Rev. Nevin Prantz. The program was arranged by the Eight Conservation committee, Rev. Nevin Prantz, chairman, Roy Gettler, Clair Taylor and M. LeRoy Zeigler.

Seventy members and two guests attended the session at which President Russell S. Hackman presided.

About 60 other donors will come in from the Duffy-Mott plant at Aspers and from the Alwine Brick Company at New Oxford and a number of other appointment cards are being issued to help raise the quota of 150 pints of blood.

Elks' Day is observed in line with the national efforts of the BPOE to assist the Red Cross in gathering blood for fighting men in Korea and for the gamma globulin supply in the battle against polio.

U. S. AIR FORCE DRUM AND BUGLE UNIT RETURNING

The United States Air Force Drum and Bugle Corps, one of the outstanding musical organizations of its kind in the nation, will be back this year for the 90th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg.

This crack outfit appeared here last year in connection with the Gettysburg Fire Department's observance of the 89th anniversary, and today Burgess William G. Weaver, president of the fire company and chairman of the Special Events Committee, announced that a "return engagement" had been arranged.

The drum corps will participate in the Fourth of July parade on Saturday and will give a concert and drill the following evening at 7 o'clock at the Gettysburg High School Athletic Field.

Arranged By Gen. Weikert

An invitation was sent to the drum corps inviting the unit to return to Gettysburg this summer for the fire company's observance, but it was not believed that arrangements could be made to bring the corps here two years in succession. The corps, the firemen were informed, seldom makes return appearances because of the great demand upon them from other communities throughout the country.

However, their appearance here again this year was arranged, Mr. Weaver said, through the intercession of Maj. Gen. John M. Weikert, formerly of McKnightstown, an Air Corps official with headquarters in the Pentagon, Washington, D. C. The fire company's celebration will open on June 30 and continue through July 5.

CONSERVATION IS LIONS CLUB TOPIC TUESDAY

The effects of a complete soil conservation program on a York County farm were outlined Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Upper Adams Lions Club held at the Biglerville auditorium.

At the session it was announced that a ladies night program will be held by the group March 17 at the Hotel Gettysburg. The program for the March 17 affair is being arranged by the greeter's committee, Walter Frederick, Cecil Snyder and L. V. Stock.

At Tuesday's meeting Crist Musser, York County farmer, spoke in connection with the showing of a film concerning conservation work on his farm. The color film, made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and previously shown throughout the U. S. and in many foreign countries, shows the development of the conservation program on the Musser farm during an entire year.

Here And There News Collected At Random

Most successful merchants cling tenaciously to the conviction that newspaper advertising brings the best results. They are convinced that consistent newspaper advertising will stimulate any business. They point to the thousands of merchants in the United States who attribute their financial success to the fact that they confined their advertising to the newspaper columns.

1952 was the biggest year, from the standpoint of newspaper advertising, in the history of the Fourth Estate. Figures recently released reveal the astounding amount of lineage carried by the ten leading newspapers in the country. It provides the most convincing evidence that successful merchants believe in consistent newspaper advertising.

Heading the newspapers in the country with the largest amount of newspaper advertising during 1952 is The Milwaukee Journal (with which we were once affiliated) with 49,457,702 lines.

The next nine papers and their 1952 lineage are:

2. Chicago Tribune 47,632,116
3. Los Angeles Times 45,849,407
4. Washington Star 42,494,020
5. New York Times 41,721,343
6. Miami Herald 39,371,267
7. Cleveland Plain Dealer 38,687,083
8. Baltimore Sun 38,154,798
9. Philadelphia Inquirer 38,133,092
10. Detroit News 37,242,380

These ten newspapers published a total of 418,743,198 lines of advertising during 1952. This is almost 30 million column inches in only ten newspapers. Think of the total lineage in the more than 1,700 other daily newspapers in the United States.

General Van Fleet Says UN Can Win In Korea, Not Expand War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet declared today the United Nations forces can win a military victory in Korea without necessarily broadening the war.

"That is my personal opinion," the four-star general told the House Armed Services Committee. He added he would have to discuss any details in a closed session.

Van Fleet called the present war situation of stabilized lines a "sit-down of our own choice." He said it is "not a checkmate, not even a stalemate."

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) asked the former Korean commander "if an offensive is launched, wouldn't that be broadening the war?"

"Not necessarily," replied the general. "That's my opinion. It would not."

Spectators crowded into the big hearing room in the House office building. Many were standing.

Van Fleet asserted at the outset that he would not publicly discuss military planning in Korea. "I can't, of course, talk about plans as a matter of policy—not my policy but yours," he said.

Sheely Chosen For High Court By Democrats

HAERISBURG (AP)—The Democratic State Policy Committee today endorsed Judge W. C. Sheely of Adams County and Judge John Ingham Hook of Greene County for election to the State Superior Court.

Maurice Spain Jr., Democratic state chairman, said the two jurists were endorsed after a telephone poll of the Democratic group.

Assured Of Nomination

The policy committee backing virtually assured Sheely and Hook the Democratic nomination in the May 19 primary.

Voters will fill two places on the State Superior Court next Nov. 3. One vacancy was created by the resignation of Judge John G. Arnold of Clearfield County who was elevated to the State Supreme Court in last year's election. Superior Court Judge Claude T. Reno of Lehigh County already has announced he will not seek a second 10-year term on the high bench.

In Second Term

Judge Sheely, 51, is in his second term as president judge of the Common Pleas Court comprising Adams and Fulton Counties.

Judge Hook was elected to the Greene County Common Pleas Court in 1945. He is 64.

CHILD WELFARE SERVICE NEEDS FOSTER HOMES

The "desperate need" for additional foster homes for the Adams County Child Welfare Services was up for discussion at the March meeting of the Advisory Committee Tuesday evening in the organization's offices in the Topper Building.

The committee decided to sponsor a campaign for more foster homes in the county and President C. C. Culp will appoint a committee to handle that undertaking.

Miss Bettie Livermore, executive secretary, said 20 more foster homes are needed and predicted that if that number is secured within the next three months, all will be in use by the end of the year. She said there are 28 foster homes in use now.

Discuss Annual Meeting

She explained that because Adams County lacks detention quarters for children, the welfare unit needs a list of available foster homes at all times so that the new children, received into the care of the welfare service at the rate of from two to five a month, can be placed immediately in approved foster homes.

There was discussion also Tuesday on May 5 at a place not (Continued on Page 2)

MOTHER SEEKS ANNULMENT OF GIRL'S MARRIAGE

BALTIMORE (AP)—A suit seeking annulment of the marriage of a teenage New Jersey couple who eloped last November has been filed in Circuit Court.

The suit was filed yesterday—the 17th birthday of the girl, the former Harriet Ennis Hanners.

She and 19-year old Richard Stryker of Flemington, N. J., vanished from their homes Nov. 9, and a 13-state police alarm went out for their return. When the couple came home Nov. 23, they told their parents they were married in Elmira, N. Y.

Harriet now lives in Baltimore with her mother, Mrs. G. Virginia Prescott, who filed the suit. The girl is the stepdaughter of John Prescott of Stockton, N. J., managing editor of the Hunterdon County Democrat, a weekly newspaper.

Her father is Irving C. Hanners of Bethlehem, Pa., owner of the Bethlehem News Agency.

Young Stryker met Harriet just three days before they disappeared. She was a student at Solebury High School at New Hope, Pa.

In the suit, it is alleged that Harriet is "emotionally immature and undeveloped" and was incapable of making a contract sufficient to constitute a valid marriage.

Harriet agreed to the marriage in response to a dare, the suit adds.

NEW WEAPON IS REJECTED BY U. S. ORDNANCE

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—The U. S. Army in Washington has brushed aside, on the ground that the armed forces do not need it, a new light submachinegun which field tests in Europe have showed will—

1. Fire 700 rounds a minute—almost twice as fast as the Army's present standard model, the M3 "Greasegun."

2. Shoot farther and straighter.

3. Weigh four pounds—half as much as the M3.

4. Cost approximately $10 to manufacture on a mass production scale compared to $45 for the M3.

5. Have a muzzle velocity of 1,800 feet per second against 750 to 800 f.p.s. for the M3.

Developed By Yank
The new gun, which fires .45-caliber cartridges, or can be converted to use the standard 9-mm. European cartridge, was developed by Warrant Officer Loren C. Cook, stationed at Coleman Barracks near here. He is a machine-tool specialist assigned to the 7849th Ordnance Stock Control Center.

After field tests in Germany, a description of Cook's gun was sent to the chief of ordnance in Washington with a recommendation that "the weapon is of extremely simple and of rugged construction, easily adaptable to inexpensive mass production fabrication."

In reply the chief of ordnance's office wrote:

"There is at the present time no U. S. user requirement for a new weapon of the machine pistol, submachine-gun or carbine class."

Kennan Unavailable For Comment Today

George F. Kennan, U. S. ambassador to Russia, could not be reached at his home near East Berlin today for comment on Stalin's illness. The Associated Press, seeking an interview with Ambassador Kennan, learned that he was believed to be in Boston.

Kennan, who was "thrown out" by the Russians as ambassador after stating that conditions there were similar to those in Germany when the Nazis were in power, is still officially the representative of this country to Russia until his scheduled successor is approved. A Russian expert, Mr. Kennan served in the embassy in Russia for many years before his return there as ambassador, and is the author of the U. S. "containment" policy for Russia.

A brief program was presented with Douglas Knight, Ruth, James and Shirley Myers. A story period followed. Twenty members and eight visitors were present at the meeting. Members were asked to read the newspapers and church bulletins announcing a meeting for next week.

Twenty-nine members and one visitor were in attendance at the Marvin meeting of the Loyalty Sunday School Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Monday evening at the church. The meeting was in charge of the second vice president, Mrs. Charles Slusser, and opened with the group singing of "Lead Me to Calvary," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. Ray Reindollar. The Scripture was read by Mrs. Robert Gitt followed with prayer offered by Mrs. Vernon Study. The group then sang "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone?" and "Near the Cross." Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Robert B. DeGroff, and the treasurer, Mrs. Esther R. Wolfe. Several piano duet selections were played by Richard Wolfe and Robert Yingling. Mrs. J. Ray Reindollar read a series of poems on spring. The committee in charge of arrangements for the sale is composed of Mrs. George Schaeffer, chairman, Mrs. Herman Newman and Mrs. Milton Harner. The guess package was contributed by Mrs. John H. Riley and received by Mrs. Arthur E. Bair Jr., a visitor in attendance. A group game in charge of Mrs. Reindollar was won by Mrs. Charles Kump. Stalin Reported Dead

PREMIER JOSEPH STALIN

Stalin

He led the Soviet people to victory in World War II, and his illness comes only a few weeks after the 10th anniversary of the Battle of Stalingrad, turning point of that war for the Soviet forces.

The paralytic stroke Stalin suffered evidently is similar to that which killed Franklin D. Roosevelt, his wartime ally. President Roosevelt, who met with Stalin at Tehran and Yalta in wartime conferences, died at 63 in 1945.

The announcement of Stalin's illness was made over the Moscow radio as many Muscovites were going to work. The announcers gave the words slowly, and the bulletin was read over and over again.

Crowds gathered in front of newspapers placarded on billboards. There was a look of concern on many faces.

Prays For Conversion
VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius is offering prayers for the Russian people in connection with the grave illness of Stalin, the Vatican said today.

A reporter asked if the Pontiff also was praying for Stalin.

"Yes, he is praying for his conversion," the Vatican informant said.

ning in the social hall of the church, and opened with prayer offered by the pastor, the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, Miss Elizabeth Ann Crouse was pianist for group singing. The Scripture was read by L. William Collins, the president, who presided. Mrs. Richard W. Staley gave a reading.

During the business period, the group discussed buying blackboards for use in the Children's Department but no definite decision was made. An estimate was received for the purchase of chimes for use in the Sunday School at dismissal time. However, the purchase was not decided upon. The group also talked about the purchase of a utility cart for use in the church kitchen. It was decided to give potted pansies and colored eggs to the children of the Cradle Roll at Easter Time this year, instead of giving toys as in the past years. The Rev. Mr. Reynolds and Mrs. Donald C. Arbogast were appointed to secure a teacher for the Primary Department to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of one of the present teachers. It was announced that the annual Easter program by the children of the Sunday School will be presented Easter Sunday evening, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary. Reports were given by the secretary, Miss Helen Jacobs, and the treasurer, Mrs. Donald Arbogast.

The guess package was contributed by Mrs. John Sentz and received by Mrs. John D. Basehoar. Contests were enjoyed and prizes received by Mrs. Basehoar and Miss Jacobs. Refreshments were served to the group by Mr. Collins and Miss Crouse. Mrs. Ray Claybaugh and Mrs. Lewis Cramer comprise the hostess committee for the next meeting on Monday, April 6, 7:30 p.m. at the church.

The quarterly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Four-County Council will be held in Chambersburg on Thursday. Mrs. James W. Fager is delegate from the Ocker Snyder Post No. 321 Auxiliary.

Dillsburg

New Businesses On New Highway Bypass

Several local citizens have or will be starting new businesses on the new highway by-pass to catch the wayfarer's eye and leave a lasting impression of Dillsburg.

The first business to open its doors is Nesbit's Motel, owned and operated by Vernon B. Nesbit, former owner of a restaurant in Dillsburg. Last Saturday from 12 to 4 p.m. residents of Dillsburg and vicinity were invited to inspect this modern motel. Each room is beautifully furnished, with foam rubber mattresses on all the beds, and a private bath adjoining each room. On one side of the motel green and char-trouse dominates the decor and the south side boasts a restful rose and blue. A huge stone fireplace dominates the lobby. A five-room apartment occupying a portion of the second floor serves as living quarters for the Nesbits family. Nesbit Electric, another enterprise of which Mr. Nesbit is owner, occupies part of the basement, along with space available for patrons' parking. C. S. Williams, general contractor from Dillsburg, constructed the two-story cement block building.

Other businesses that will be opened soon are a service station, being constructed for Ray Grove at the intersection of Route 74 and Route 15, nearing completion, and a restaurant is being proposed by another local resident.

Around The Town

Borough police get the "dernest things" to investigate. Take the case of the "undump" man, which police have been investigating. Monday the man drove into an alley with his car, threw out a collection of debris; came back in 15 minutes and picked up what he had dumped and put it into his car; about 15 minutes later he came back and dumped the stuff again; then a few minutes later came back and picked up the stuff. By the end of the day he had made quite a few "dumps" and "undumps," finally ending the day with everything cleaned up tidily.

Police are most curious concerning the reason for the actions. They state if the "lad" simply amuses himself that way it's probably all right as long as he cleans it up, but personally they can think of a lot of things that would be more fun.

The courtroom was crowded as the judge finished his lecture to the defendant in a divorce case.

"So, I've decided to give your wife $50 per month," the Judge concluded.

The defendant's face lit up. "That's swell, Judge," he smiled. "I'll try to slip her a couple of bucks now and then myself."

The federal government now is owner of about one acre of land in every four in the United States. Its holdings total nearly a half billion acres. In the 11 western public lands states, the average is 54 per cent. In Nevada it is 87 per cent and in Oregon 73 per cent.

In 1913, the first federal personal income tax law provided rates from 1 to 7 per cent. Now they are from 22.2 to 92 per cent. In 1909, the rate specified in the first corporation income tax was 1 per cent. Now the average is 60 per cent.

Do you know that part of the cure is the desire to be cured?

American business creates 600,000 new jobs every year for young people starting out on their life careers. That means an enormous amount of capital investment is needed to provide these jobs. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States points out that every tax raise cuts down the amount of capital for investments that make jobs.

The initials "S.N.C.F." on a pretty French mademoiselle's petticoat recently became a matter of interest to Paris police and the French National Railway. It happened this way:

Mademoiselle Fleurette went strolling on the boulevards when the wind was blowing. The breeze was doing playful things with her skirt when a French gentleman passed by. Being a Frenchman, he couldn't help glancing at the mademoiselle's shapely legs. And that glance stopped him, turned him about and set him off trailing the pretty girl. The wind continued to flirt with her hemline and the man peered closer. Then he did an ungentlemanly thing. He arrested Fleurette, for he was a detective.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE FILED IN AUTO DEATH

Involuntary manslaughter charges have been filed by Maryland State Police against Chalmers M. McElhaney, 49, York, driver of an auto in which another York was fatally injured Saturday when it struck a trolley at a crossing near Frederick.

State Police Capt. Charles J. McGaha of Frederick said an investigation indicated the York was negligent in handling the auto in which the dead man, John W. Hoover, 48, of 344 W. Philadelphia St., York, was a passenger. Hoover died Sunday in Frederick Memorial Hospital of a broken neck and shock.

McElhaney will be arrested as soon as he is released from that hospital, where he is recovering from injuries received in the crash, McGaha said.

Trolley Derailed
McElhaney's auto hit the trolley with such force that the trolley was derailed. State police said the York apparently failed to heed a stop signal and the trolley whistled.

Funeral services for Hoover, formerly of East Berlin, will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at William A. Feiser Funeral Home, Hanover. The Rev. Alton Leister, pastor of East Berlin Reformed Church, will officiate. Interment in the East Berlin Cemetery.

A painter and interior decorator, he was a son of Mrs. Bernice Dicks Hoover, New Oxford R. 1, and the late Ervin C. Hoover.

Surviving besides his mother are his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Resser Hoover, East Berlin; three children, William F. Hoover, Baltimore; Mrs. James Robinson, New Oxford R. 1, and Marilyn N. Hoover, East Berlin, and two brothers, Melvin and Earl Hoover, both of New Oxford R. 1.

spotted the stenciled initials that labeled the slip the property of the French railway. And beneath the initials was printed the warning: "These windows must be closed at night."

It was Fleurette's turn to confess that she had recently made a train trip and the sleeping car curtains were made of such soft material she couldn't resist making a slip!

In a lecture at Oakland, California, in 1871 Ralph Waldo Emerson said: "If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mousetrap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

BOOKS

Books are happy company when the skies are gray.
Books are friends that never plead:
"Let's go out today."

Books are quiet company, glad to settle down
By a lamp and blazing fire, far away from town.

Books will never fret or sigh at the window pane,
Wondering how to pass the time when the Lord sends rain.

They will never pace the floor like men whose nerves are strained,
Dull, morose and helpless things unless they're entertained.

Friends we need and friends are good for every whim and mood,
But who has books for company has friends for solitude.

Today's Talk
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

CEMENT

I have been thinking about the great part that cement plays in life. Hardly a foundation without it. Streets, wells, reservoirs, cellars, fences — and endless other things teeming to its valve.

Hardly a great building is built without it. You see, it holds things together!

But often this cement is not properly used or mixed — and soon there is a crumbling and loss. Too little of the genuine cement. There was a time when workmen took pains in the use of cement, and we have examples all over the world where foundations and buildings have withstood all the ravages of time.

That is the way it is in friendship. If the things used to cement friendship are genuine, and there is plenty to cement that friendship, it lasts forever — or so long as life lasts. Consideration for the other's feelings, charity toward his faults, unity of interests, and tolerant understanding — these act as a cement to bind all friendship and make it a living and lasting affair.

The one thing that is going to cement this world together, for the common good of all, is going to be a new understanding of the fundamental values that must live if permanent peace is to be the ideal for which we all so fervently hope and pray.

The common good of all — a simple statement, but one that is the foundation stone on which all efforts must be centered. Distances are almost eliminated with our modern inventions. Communication is almost instant from any part of the world. The hopes of the humblest must be taken into account. The world must be made safe for them.

Never before has such responsibility been forced upon the peoples of this earth. No one intelligent human being can afford to shirk his responsibility, or his apathy, to the service of God. Good will be cemented around this great globe if peace and happiness are to be achieved and made to endure.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Banish Monotony." Protected, 1953, George Matthew Adams Service

CONSTITUTION BILL WILL FACE SENATE BATTLE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The administration-backed constitutional revision bill, fresh from a victory in the House, struck the shoals of Senate opposition Tuesday.

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican floor leader, flatly predicted the measure would have "rough sailing" in the upper chamber despite the support of Gov. John S. Fine.

"I believe the people should not vote on whether a constitutional convention should be held and also elect delegates at the same time," he told a newsman.

As passed by the House by a 184-9 vote Monday night, the bill would place on the Nov. 3 ballot the question of whether the state's 79-year-old Constitution should be revised.

Choose 110 Members

At the same time, voters would also choose a 10-member constitutional convention to rewrite the commonwealth's basic law, subject to approval of the first question.

From Senate Democrats came a threat that they would fight the provision dealing with referendum as to whether the Constitution should be revised.

"That's just a device to get the whole business of revising the Constitution killed off," said Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader. "The Republicans are afraid to throw open the Constitution in a gubernatorial year."

"He said GOP leaders would 'throw a scare' into justices of the peace that their offices would be abolished under a new Constitution, adding:

"Then they'll go to business and say a new Constitution would mean a graduated income tax. By playing one faction of the citizenry against another faction, the Republicans will be able to convince the voters that the whole idea of a new Constitution is unsound."

If Eisenhower by this time has worked out any bold plans for ending the war, without the "risk of enlarging" it, they have not been made public.

Van Fleet made headlines several weeks ago when, about to leave Asia, he said that "certainly" the Eighth Army could make a successful offensive against the Communists in Korea.

SOUTH KOREANS REGAIN OUTPOST

SEOUL (AP)—Valiant South Korean infantry men regained the top of a bloody outpost hill position on the Central Korean Front today in a thunderous climax to 23 hours of savage close-quarter fighting with an estimated 500 Chinese Reds.

The Republic of Korea troops had pulled back from the outpost at midday and let Allied warplanes turn the hill into a smoking mass of bomb craters and debris.

In late afternoon the ROKS counterattacked and forced their way back to the top of the unnamed hill southeast of Kumsong.

The Eighth Army briefing officer said the South Koreans counted 30 Chinese dead on the battlefield when the fighting ended just before dark. Another 90 Reds were estimated killed and 60 wounded. That would be a casualty toll of 180—more than one-third of the attack force.

Ike's Big Problem Is To End War, Not Enlarge It

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower summed up his dilemma about ending the Korean War with a statement made during the presidential campaign and another to a news conference at the end of his Korean trip in 1952.

In the campaign he said: "The first task of a new administration is... to bring the Korean War to an early and honorable close." That was his expressed ambition in the campaign.

To the news conference he said he had "no panacea" for ending the war and he spoke of the "grave risk of enlarging the war." That was his appraisal after looking over Korea.

So his problem is how to finish the war soon without taking the chance of going so far that Russia might come in to help Communist China, thus starting World War III. That was also former President Truman's unsolved problem.

Plans Not Revealed

If Eisenhower by this time has worked out any bold plans for ending the war, without the "risk of enlarging" it, they have not been made public.

But the dilemma and the two statements provide a background for whatever happens this week when a foremost authority on Korea, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, returns here to give any ideas he may have on how to win the war.

Van Fleet, soon to be 61 and coming home to retire after commanding the American Eighth Army in Korea 22 months, is a longtime friend of Eisenhower. They were West Point classmates.

Van Fleet made headlines several weeks ago when, about to leave Asia, he said that "certainly" the Eighth Army could make a successful offensive against the Communists in Korea.

Deadline Is Our Fault

The military deadline in Korea, he said, was "of our choosing and not imposed by the enemy." Congressional ears picked up. A man with a solution? Congressional committees got ready to question him when he returned.

He arrived on Tuesday for a busy schedule: an immediate conference with Eisenhower, then lunch with Eisenhower and congressional leaders, and appearances before congressional committees, starting tomorrow.

Van Fleet was not criticizing, at least it didn't seem he was, his commander-in-chief and old comrade-in-arms, Eisenhower. The Korean stalemate began under Truman, not Eisenhower.

Van Fleet was critical of the Truman regime during the presidential campaign. He wrote his wife a letter, which she turned over to candidate Eisenhower, complaining he wasn't being allowed to build up Korean forces fast enough.

In his statement that an Eighth Army offensive "certainly" could succeed, Van Fleet seemed to be expressing a personal viewpoint.

If an offensive means widening the war—for instance, perhaps bombing the Chinese Manchurian bases—Eisenhower already has expressed concern about an enlargement.

After he got into the White House Eisenhower had more reason to be concerned about doing anything which might bring on World War III. He got a fast and worried reaction from America's allies when he announced weeks ago he would denaturalize the American fleet at Formosa.

That reaction was clear evidence to him and his military planners that the Allies were jittery about any move which might bring Russia down on their necks in retaliation.

When Gen. Douglas MacArthur made persistent public demands for all-out war on the Chinese Communists in the spring of 1951, President Truman sacked him. MacArthur returned and gave his views to Congress.

But there was a difference between his return and that of Van Fleet. The Truman administration was ice-cold to MacArthur. There was no conference between him and Truman. To Van Fleet the Eisenhower administration seems warm indeed.

Ballad Singer To Give Concert Sunday

Susan Reed, ballad singer, will give a concert at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Thomson Hall.

Miss Reed, singing the traditional ballads of the Appalachians, Ireland, England and Scotland, plays her own accompaniments, alternating on several instruments including the Irish harp, the zither and what she terms, the "ever-lovin'."

This last-named instrument is something like a lute which she found in a village in the Smoky Mountains.

A pretty, red-haired girl, Miss Reed was first "discovered" in a New York supperclub and has recently made her first motion picture, "Glamour Girl."

The concert is open to the public without charge.

Emmitsburg, Harney, Taneytown Added To South Penn Baseball League; Season To Open May 3

Three surprise entries, Taneytown, Harney and the Emmitsburg Legion, formerly of the Penn-Maryland Baseball League, were admitted into membership of the South Penn Baseball League at a meeting Tuesday evening at the American Legion Home, Baltimore St.

The new trio replaces Barlow, Hanover and Granite who announced recently they would not re-enter the circuit this year.

In addition to the newcomers the league will be composed of the following former members: Bonneauville, Brushtown, Bendersville, Greentown and Huntertown.

It was decided the league will open its schedule on Sunday, May 3, with two complete rounds of games being played.

The annual All-Star game has been scheduled for Sunday, July 5, on the home grounds of the team leading the league at that time. The top team will meet a team composed of players from other members of the league.

Change Official Ball
A decision was reached to have league officials meet with members of the Adams County Umpires Association to arrange for officiating during the campaign.

Six amendments were added to the league constitution, foremost of which was the decision to use the Spaulding ball this season.

The next meeting will be held Monday, March 30, at which time rosters will be approved, forfeits posted, the schedule approved and other business transacted.

President Roy Shanbrook presided at Tuesday's meeting. Only Huntertown was without representation.

Cleveland Barons Blank Hornets, 3-0

By The Associated Press
The Cleveland Barons were back atop the American Hockey League today in their running battle with the Pittsburgh Hornets.

The Barons blanked the Hornets, 3-0, in the only game on the schedule last night. For Cleveland Goalie John Bower, it was his sixth shutout of the campaign his best record for any single season in the loop.

The Barons now have 72 points to the Hornets' 70. The Barons still have seven games left to play on the regular season schedule and the Hornets eight.

Gus Karrys put the Barons ahead at 5:18 of the first period, and that's all they needed although Steve Wochy slapped home two more tallies in the third session.

Conference Title Hinges On 3 Games

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (P)—Three final games this week, none of which involves league-leading Bloomsburg will decide the champion of the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Basketball Conference.

Bloomsburg, which has finished its regular season, will be assured of at least a tie for first place if West Chester defeats Kutztown to night and can win the title if Kutztown beats Shippensburg Friday.

Should Kutztown whip West Chester and Shippensburg take Kutztown, then California can tie with Bloomsburg if Edinboro triumphs over Slippery Rock in the league's final game Saturday.

Eleven Awarded GHS Basketball Letters Today

Varsity basketball letters were awarded to 11 Gettysburg High School students by Coach George Forney this morning during the regular assembly program.

Receiving the awards were the following: Seniors, Honorary Captain Gus Dayhoff, Skip Fisel, John Carter, Bob Hixon, John Beegle, George Bender and Jay Sixeas; juniors George Penn, Robert Rohrbaugh and Jay Schmitt, and senior student manager, William Decker.

Probably the hardest earned letters were those by Beegle, Bender and Sixeas. They received the "service" letters which require seniors to have been candidates for three years without the glory of having played a sufficient number of minutes to earn regular letters. To earn a regular letter a squad member is required to play 25 per cent of the total number of minutes during the season. Decker's managerial letter was also well-earned due to his many chores throughout the season.

Blame Heart Attack
Dr. William M. Nethery said a heart attack (coronary thrombosis) was the cause.

Never knocked out in his 19-year ring career, Jeffries reigned as king of the heavyweights from 1899 to 1905, when he retired undefeated. But, coaxed out of retirement, he met Jack Johnson, his successor as champion, in 1910. Johnson won on a technical knockout in the 15th round to close the career of Jeffries, then 35.

But in his prime, many veteran fight fans aver, there was no one like Big Jim for speed and hitting power. Carrying 200 pounds on a 6 foot 1½ inch frame at his peak, he twice knocked out Jim Corbett and the great Australian, Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons.

Won 22 Of 23
His victories over Sailor Tom Sharkey, Gus Ruhlin and Joe Shoyneki rank among the fiercest battles in the days when prize-fights were long and brutal. His overall record: 23 fights, 11 knockouts, 1 decisions, 2 draws, 2 exhibitions—and the one loss to Johnson.

Born in Carroll, O., April 15, 1875, of Irish-American stock, Jeffries was one of eight children of a Methodist clergyman. The family moved to Los Angeles when Jim was only 6, and the lad went to work early in railroad shops and iron foundries as a boiler-maker.

Turned Pro At 16
He had his first professional fight in 1891, at the age of 16, knocking out Hank Griffin in the 14th round and earning $500. His mother then persuaded him to quit the ring until he was 21.

Jeffries won the heavyweight title by knocking out Fitzsimmons in the 11th round at Coney Island, N. Y., June 9, 1899. Five months later he successfully defended his crown with a 25-round decision over Sharkey.

Can Get GI Aid
Hilmer E. Shirey, chief, vocational rehabilitation and education division, Wilkes-Barre Veterans Administration, today told veterans ans how they can save time in applying for schooling and training under the Korean GI Bill, just by using some of their own initiative.

Before they even apply for training, they should take these two steps, he said:

"1. Get a photostat or certified copy made of both sides of their discharge or separation paper (Department of Defense Form 215). They'll need it to attach to their application.

"2. If they're sure of what they want to train for, find out whether the school or training establishment will accept them under the Korean GI Bill.

Must List School
"On the application form, which may be obtained at any VA office, a veteran who has come to a firm decision as to his training goal must put it down. He also must list the program of training that will help him reach his goal, as well as the name and address of the State-approved school or establishment where he plans to train.

"Knowing these things in advance will save him a good deal of time when he files his application," he said.

"On the other hand, if he's not sure what he wants to take, and he'd like to get expert assistance in reaching a decision he may receive vocational counseling from the VA. In such a case, he should indicate that he wants counseling in his GI training application."

Teams Clash To Enter Cage Tourney

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. (P)—Geneva College will play Millersville State Teachers College tomorrow to decide Pennsylvania's entry in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Basketball Tournament.

The Covenanters qualified for the state final last night by whipping Clarion Teachers, 77-52, in a Western Pennsylvania playoff. Millersville, the Eastern winner, and Geneva will clash at Juniata College in Huntingdon. The NAIA tourney will be held in Kansas City later this month.

John Adams, who died at 90, lived longer than any other man who has been U.S. President.

Big Jim Jeffries, One Of Greatest Heavy Champs, Dies

BURBANK, Calif. (P)—James J. Jeffries—Big Jim, the boilermaker boy who became one of the world's greatest heavyweight boxing champions—died last night. He was 77.

Jeffries, a semi-invalid since a stroke seven years ago, died in his home in bed after asking his niece and housekeeper, Mrs. Lillian Bull, to call a doctor.

He had been feeling rather well in recent weeks, even up to attending a social function or two, Mrs. Bull said. But he died before the doctor arrived.

EAST LANGSING, Mich. (P)—A sophomore who had only one year of high school playing experience can become the highest scorer in Michigan State's 55 years of basketball.

He is Al Ferrari, a 6-2½ youngster from Brooklyn, N. Y. Al accounted for 147 points in his first 10 games for a 14.7 average. With 12 contests remaining he could pass Bob Brannum, center on the 1947-48 squad and now starring for the Boston Celtics in the NBA. Brannum set the all-time season record of 344 points.

A variety of shots makes it difficult for the opposition to stop Ferrari. He relies mainly on a good jump shot, a hook and a floating drive. In his driving shot, Al literally floats through the air to drop in a lay-up.

"He can do as much in the air as most college players can do with their feet on the court," says Coach Pete Newell.

In addition to being a fine scorer, Ferrari is a good defensive player, too. Ferrari's outstanding play against Kansas State in the Spartan Cage Classic last December was instrumental in Michigan State's 80-63 upset win. He scored 22 points against the Wildcats and was selected as the "most valuable player" in the tourney.

Al's Spartan teammates have nicknamed him "Moose" because of his hard charging style. "They sure hate to guard him in practice," smiles Coach Newell.

Two of the 105 players in the National Hockey League were born in Scotland. Both are members of the New York Rangers and both have the same first name. Defenseman Jim Ross and forward Jim Conacher are the two Scots. Ross was born in Edinburgh while Conacher was born in Motherwell.

G-BURG COEDS COP 3RD WIN

The Gettysburg College coeds secured sweet revenge for a previous defeat by outclassing the Elizabethtown dribblers 56-31 on the local floor Tuesday evening.

The victory gives the Bulletes a 3-3 record for the season.

In the preliminary game the local Jayvees remained undefeated by winning their fourth straight 27-7.

Penn Hall will be met at Chambersburg by the varsity on Saturday.

JAPS TAKING TO FOOTBALL

PITTSBURGH (P)—The Japanese are taking to football just like they took to baseball says Lt. Arnold Galiffa, former All-America quarterback from West Point.

"Football is a new sport to the Japanese, and they are getting just as enthusiastic about it as they are about baseball," said Galiffa during a testimonial dinner here for Montessori School Superintendent Dr. Michael Duda.

Galiffa, who has been an instructor at Japan's Rikkyo University, returned home to Yonkers on furlough prior to reporting for an infantry course at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Since being graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1950, Galiffa has served in Korea and Japan. In Korea he was credited with hand grenade throws of 50 to 75 yards.

Galiffa will be eligible for an Army discharge in June. When asked about the prospect of quitting the Army for professional football, Galiffa replied:

"I like the Army and I like professional football, too. I'll have to decide what I am going to do when the time comes."

Coach Says Game Will Be Slower

AUSTIN, Tex. (P)—Ed Price, who coached the University of Texas to a Cotton Bowl victory in his second season as head coach, says football will be considerably slower next season.

Price said the reason was pretty obvious: Players were going to be tired and couldn't keep the pace. Price was a strong advocate of two platoon football because "it gave more boys a chance to play."

He said Texas won't be any worse off next year with the new rule in effect than other teams.

No assistant coaches will lose their jobs because of the new rule. Price has had five assistants using the two platoon method.

BECOME 10-YEAR MEN

CHICAGO (P)—In the American League, 11 players will be come 10-year men this season. A 10-year veteran is entitled to a $100 monthly pension at age 50. Ed Robinson of the Athletics hits the mark on Aug. 19, Tommy Byrne of the White Sox on July 28, Hank Edwards of the Browns on July 24, Dave Philley of the A's on May 15, Carl Scheib of the A's on Aug. 30, George Kell of the Red Sox on Sept. 17, Johnny Ligon of the Red Sox on Aug. 12 and Al Zarilla of the Red Sox on June 23. Three attain the standard at the conclusion of the season—Ed Lopat of the Yankees, Ted Wilks of the Indians and Sam Zoldak of the Athletics.

LEARNED TO RIDE IN BRONX

MIAMI (P)—The "bonus baby" of the Hialeah jockeys has been the 17-year-old apprentice Charlie O'Brien who learned his horsemanship at a riding academy in the Bronx. O'Brien became one of the highest priced riders sold in years when his contract was purchased for $12,000 by the Trio Stable from Eddie Holton, the lad's mentor for the last 18 months. The deal placed O'Brien under the tutelage of former jockey Merritt Buxton, quite an artist during his active days in the saddle.

Bullets Host To Dickinson Cagers In Home Final

A pair of time-honored athletic rivals, Gettysburg and Dickinson Colleges, will clash on the college floor this evening in the final home game of the season for the Bullets cagers.

A victory for Dickinson would do much to salvage part of a season which has resulted in but three wins and 13 setbacks.

The Bullets sport an 11-9 record. Following tonight's clash they meet Franklin and Marshall on the York Junior College floor next Monday evening in concluding their schedule.

At 7 o'clock this evening the freshman teams will meet.

HUNTING SNAKES IS GOOD SPORT

BUTTE, Mont. (P)—Sportsmen tire of hunting mammals and of going fishing can get as much as they wish to bargain for in rattlesnake hunting.

"We need more members, too," Bill Sweet says. Sweet is a member of Montana's Fish and Game Commission.

For about 20 years Sweet has hunted the reptiles. "It's great sport. Something to take you out of doors."

Rattlesnake hunting methods vary but Sweet says there are a few sure methods.

"We sometimes put a pane of glass in front of the snakes and have them strike at us, plastering the venom over the glass." Others "use an electric stick, which, when applied, makes the snake go through a lot of jitterbugging antics, and finally kills them."

"40 To 50 In Group"
In April and early May Sweet says the snakes can usually be found 40 to 50 to a group lying in the sun or in front of their dens.

"We once found as many as 75 in a bunch," he says.

In case you decide the hunt's the thing be sure you get heavy boots and about a dozen safety razor blades and a suction tube. "Bites are fatal in many cases unless aid is immediately administered," Sweet says.

If you're still interested you can contact Sweet in Butte. He will be happy to pass along the information gained on the hunts.

LEARNED TO RIDE IN BRONX

MIAMI (P)—The "bonus baby" of the Hialeah jockeys has been the 17-year-old apprentice Charlie O'Brien who learned his horsemanship at a riding academy in the Bronx. O'Brien became one of the highest priced riders sold in years when his contract was purchased for $12,000 by the Trio Stable from Eddie Holton, the lad's mentor for the last 18 months. The deal placed O'Brien under the tutelage of former jockey Merritt Buxton, quite an artist during his active days in the saddle.

BETHLEHEM IS BEATEN 67 TO 59 BY ALLENTOWN

HARRISBURG (P)—Allentown High's basketball team today had in its grip on a coveted Class A state PIAA playoff berth and along with that a full measure of revenge against neighboring rival Bethlehem for a year-old debt.

The Allentown five, 1951 state champions, waited until the final quarter before turning on the pressure last night at the University of Pennsylvania Palestra to rack up an eight point victory over Bethlehem in a playoff for the season title of the East Penn League.

Last year at this time, Bethlehem took an eight point playoff decision from Allentown on the same Philadelphia court for the same title. That eliminated the Canaries from the 1952 playoffs and ended their chances of copping the state title a second year in a row.

Second Half Tide
Last night it was a playoff for the second half decision after both teams finished with 4-1 records. Allentown copped first round honors with five straight victories and thus by winning the second half did away with the necessity of another playoff.

Last Year Bethlehem won the first half, lost a second round playoff to Allentown and then came back to take the league championship and playoff berth, 52-44.

Allentown's latest triumph, 67-59, in a game that saw the lead change hands 10 times, was the third Canary victory over Bethlehem this season. The Allentowners have lost only twice, once to Norristown and the other a league decision to Pottsville.

The win gives Allentown a first round bye in the District 11 setup and throws the East Penn champions against the Mahanoy City Ashland winner.

Two other playoffs yesterday decided second half winners in Class A eastern leagues.

All-Harrisburg Clash
The result of one set up for the first all-Harrisburg playoff for the championship in the history of the Central Penn League.

Harrisburg William Penn, a second half dark horse, tripped the defending league and district champion, Reading, 56-50. That gave the second half flag to the Harrisburg quintet and moved Penn into a March 9 game against Harrisburg John Harris, first half victor, for the season crown.

Slatington finally cleared up the season's second three-way deadlock in the Wyoming Valley League by downing Palmerton for the second half title. Palmerton meets Emmaus, first round winner after a three-way tie, March 7 for another District 11 Class A playoff spot.

Other action found Sharon, the team that dethroned defending state champ Farrell in Section 3 of the WPAL, routing Monaca (Sec. 8) in a Dist. 7 quarterfinal. The Class Tigers are rated along with Ford City and Greensburg, as top contenders for the district title.

NEW NORTHERN JOINT H. S. WILL OPEN IN 10 DAYS

Within the next week or 10 days approximately 570 junior and senior high school students hope to move into the new Northern Joint High School Building, recently completed just outside Dillsburg.

The building which was started about two years ago, can accommodate 850 pupils. It was designed by Edmund George Good Jr., and built by Ritter Bros., Harrisburg contractors. Since last September, 14 of its classrooms have been occupied by pupils in the third to eighth grade previously attending the Dillsburg school and 10 one-room schools, since closed.

The eighth and ninth grades will remain at the new high school with the grades from third to seventh returning to the former Dillsburg High School in town, and the senior group moving to their new quarters in this modern educational plant.

Serves 7 Districts

This new school serves a seven-district jointure including the boroughs of Dillsburg, Franklinton and Wellsburg and Monaghan, Carroll, Franklin and Warrington Townships. The jointure is headed by a joint board with George Knisely, Dillsburg, serving as president.

Mr. Good, architect, was aided by the Dillsburg School Authority composed of Roy Krall, chairman; Donald Gerber, secretary; W. S. Strayer, treasurer; G. Herbert Myers, J. M. Knisely and Irvin Stough.

One of the highlights in the school is the auditorium which will accommodate 648 persons, and which is decorated in red and green. Perhaps the most outstanding feature for the boys and girls soon to occupy the building is the gymnasium. It can be separated into two complete gyms by electrically operated folding doors making a separate gym for boys and girls. Lining the gymnasium are folding bleachers which can seat about 1,000 persons. The gym and locker rooms are directly accessible to the playing fields.

Consider New Grade Schools

Industrial arts, blueprint reading and mechanical drawing, and agricultural shop and classroom are housed in an adjoining separate building. The home economics department is housed on the second floor above the central section of the building, and boasts three complete kitchens and a work room with stage for modeling fashions seen by the students. An art room is also on the second floor. A cafeteria with the capacity of 300 students is another highlight of this modern school.

The school board is now proposing a plan for new elementary schools in population centers of the seven districts that form the jointure. Once these buildings are completed the remaining one-room schools will be closed, providing the improved educational facilities that aid in the making of better Americans.

Friends Meet Again After Twenty Years

It was two decades since they had last met but Miss Thelma Ruppert was able to immediately recognize her guests when Mr. and Mrs. William Nicky, York, called on her Sunday at her home in York Springs.

The visit by Mr. and Mrs. Nicky and their daughter, Jane, turned into an occasion for recalling old times, 20 years or more ago, when the Nickys were close friends and frequent visitors of the Rupperts when they resided in East Berlin. The families later drifted into other friendships and 20 years elapsed from their last meeting until the visit on Sunday.

My Daze

I FINALLY MADE IT... Guess what? The Gettysburg Times finally broke down and sent me a beautiful letter, enclosing a bona fide press card, a real reporter's pencil, and the best wishes of yep old Ed. I understand they were forced to do this from the enormous amount of mail received by this column in the past year... So far we have received two letters, three cards, and a small time bomb (which did not explode due to a faulty fuse). I was very proud of this wonderful gift, which practically makes me the second highest paid member of the Times staff.

The only person who makes more than I do is the janitor, but he works longer hours! Mr. Roy has advised me that the press card will admit me to any and all sports events, movies, banquets, and used car lots, however, he had neglected to advise the sponsors of these events—consequently I have been thrown out of more places than I care to remember. My new press card also enables me to use the front door of the Times office, instead of sneaking in the back like I used to do... I also get my own key to the wash room!

ABOUT THE PEOPLE... I will strangle the proof reader, who last week in my column misprinted "Big Shaw" for "Bill Shaw"... Since then Mr. Shaw has taken this literally—and now wears a size 8 1/2 hat instead of the 7 1/4 which he once fitted nicely... Congrats to Thelma Ruppert, who managed to see the first robin of the year... I got news for you Thelma...

This is the robin who never went south last year. I know his family well, and they couldn't afford to go south on account of the high cost of living. They are practically poverty stricken and live behind the mortgage window in the York Springs bank. Mr. Weidner feeds them daily, on old bank notes... So you see old gal, that robin never went south at all! Keep looking!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY... Thanks to the gal in G'burg who sent in the following date: Jane Withrow, Dillsburg Feb. 27th... Here's some more for Feb.: Mrs. Garth Chevy Lefever, Mrs. C. N. Pontiac Spangler, Mildred Apple (don't see her anymore since she works in New Cumberland), Mrs. Boyd Gerber, Mrs. Baird Knaum (How's the little one dear?), Mrs. Clair Wagner, Jacqueline Schaffer, Mrs. Mary Trostle, Wayne F. Spatz, Margaret Ann Spangler, Sally Dittmer, Mrs. Clara Spidel, Vesta S. Weaver, Kenneth Dick, Vesta Mummert, Mrs. Sudler Bamberger, and Charlotte Rosenberger... Send 'em all cards folks, and if you'd like someone to be remembered in our Birthday, drop us a card... H. H.

Glenn Myers, leaders, were in charge of the party.

Miss Kathy Swain, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. T. Swain Jr., Dillsburg was the weekend guest of Miss Nancy Krall at Gettysburg College.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Krall spent Thursday afternoon visiting their daughter, Miss Nancy Krall, in Gettysburg.

Business And Social News For The Residents Of The Fairfield Community

Former Adams Countians Mark 50th Anniversary In Florida

Two former Orrtanna residents now residing in Florida were well publicized by the Miami Journal on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The Florida paper used a picture of the couple taken beside a palm tree at their home and observed, "Good health and mutual understanding is the successful formula used by Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Starnier, North Miami, as they reach their 50th wedding anniversary."

"On Sunday, February 22, 1903, Betty Plank and Henry F. Starnier spoke their vows before the Rev. David T. Koser in Flohr's Church, near Gettysburg.

"Betty Plank, born 1885, and Henry Starnier, born 1875, both saw the light of day in Adams County, Pa., and were baptized and confirmed by the same minister who later performed their wedding ceremony.

Read Special Prayer
"At this same wedding a prayer was read that had been especially written for them by the Rev. William C. Gerhard, granduncle of Mrs. Starnier, who was 100 years old when he wrote it.

"In 1923 they came to Florida and for the next 29 years Henry Starnier worked as a plasterer. He then entered the employ of the Jackson Hospital where he was in the pharmacy department. In 1952 Mr. Starnier retired.

"Mrs. Starnier is a cousin of Eddie Plank, famous baseball pitcher for Connie Mack's Athletics. Her grandmother, Sarah Plank, owned the farm and built the original barn on the farm near Gettysburg that now belongs to President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

"Although the Starniers have no children, they have many relatives in and around Gettysburg and Adams County.

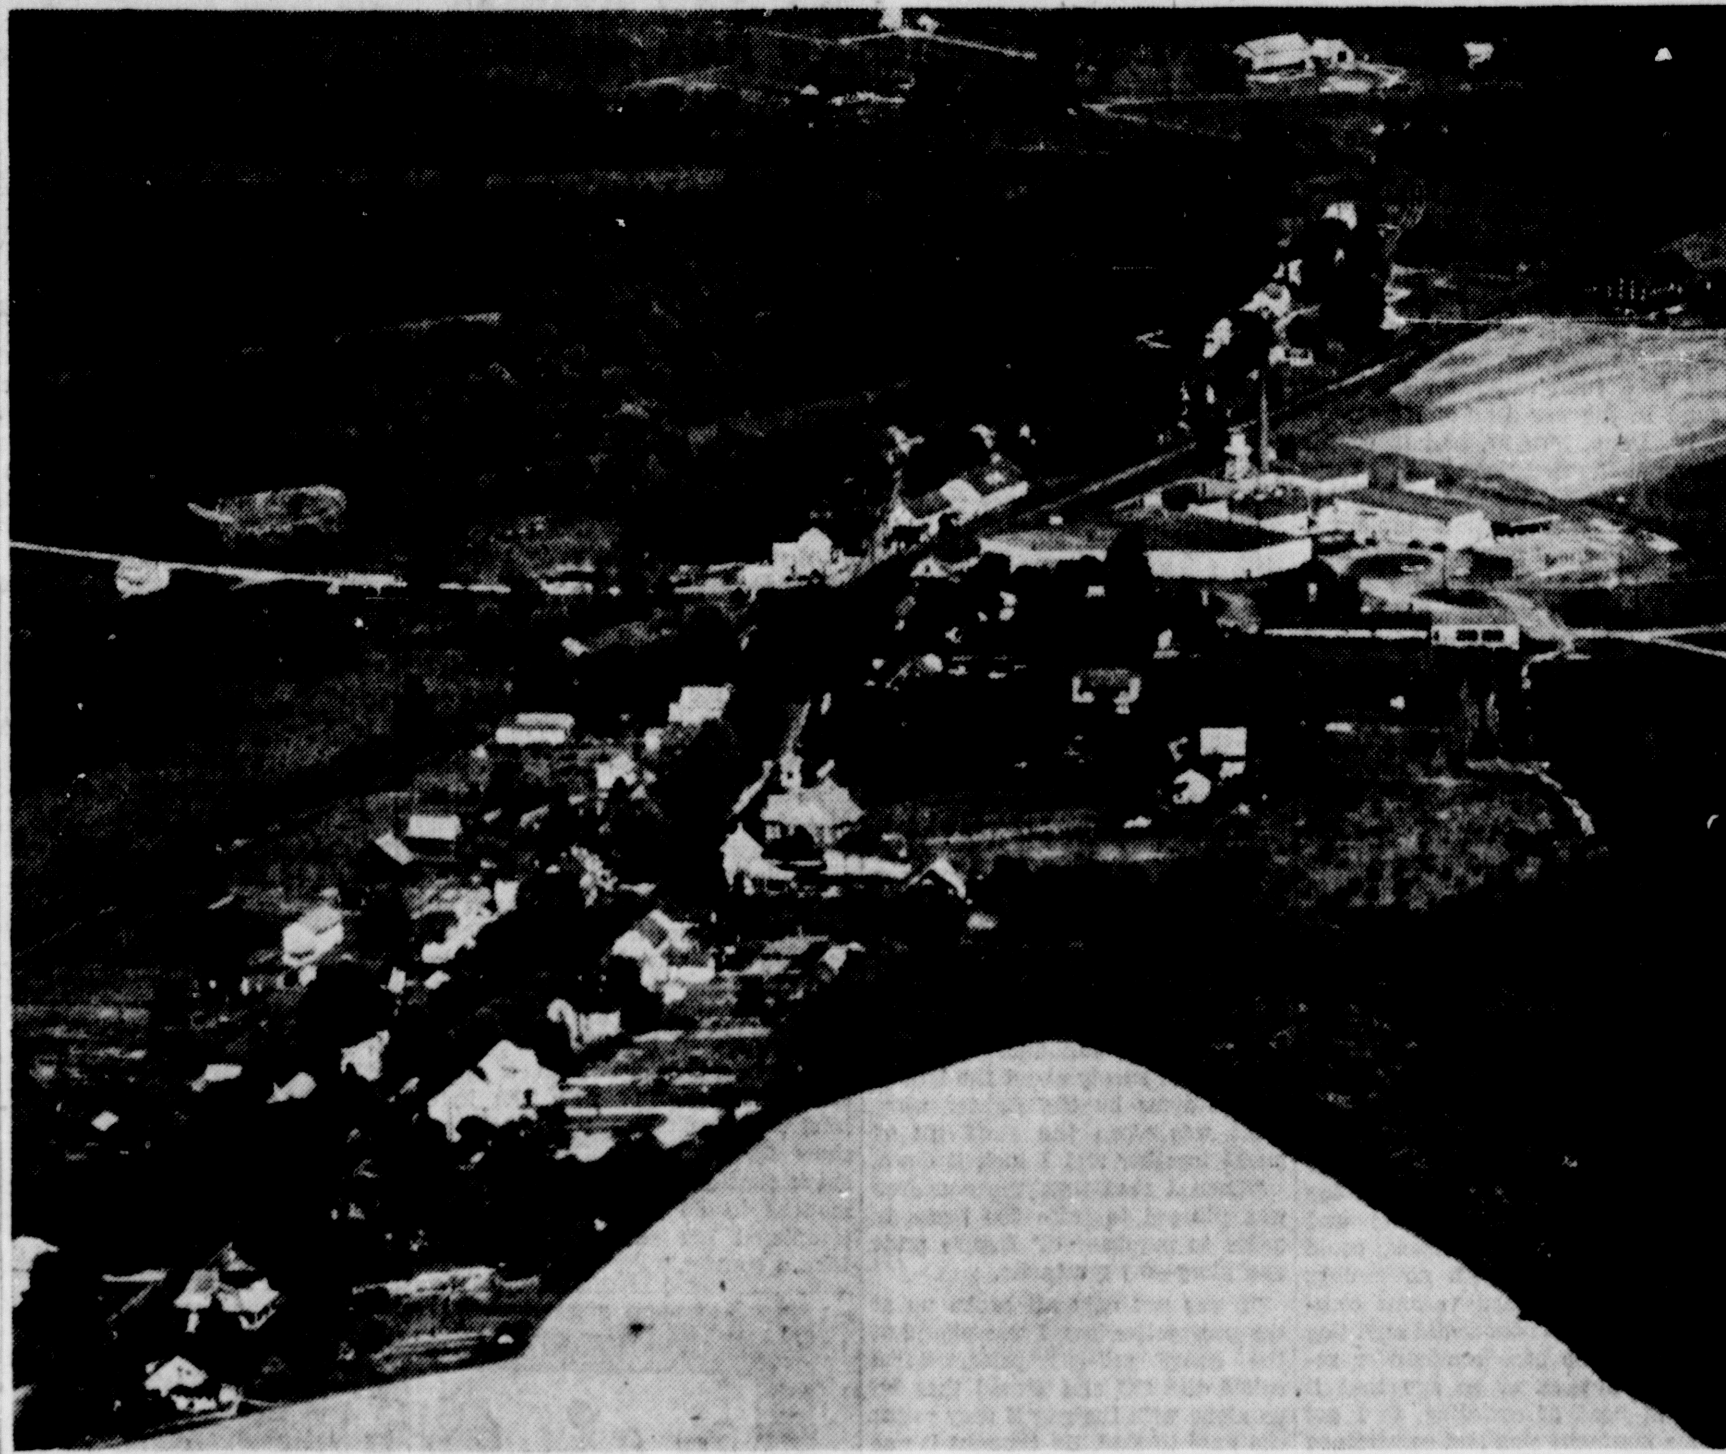

"They intend to spend their golden wedding day on a beach picnic enjoying the Florida sunshine which they firmly believe gave them the good health they enjoy."

Girl Scouts Plan Benefit Card Party

Members of the York Springs Girl Scout Committee have announced a public card party to be held March 10 in the York Springs Scout Cabin. This event will replace the annual door-to-door drive for funds, according to Mrs. Doris Breighner, committee secretary. The party, which starts at 7:30, will be comprised of pinocle and 500. Door prizes and score awards will be given.

FAIRFIELD LIONS SPONSOR CIRCUS AGAIN ON MAY 30

Fairfield Lions are well pleased with advance ticket sales for their Charity Fund benefit of the appearance of the Mills Brothers Circus in that community on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, May 30.

The Mills Brothers Circus, which appeared for the first time in Fairfield last year under Lions' sponsorship, will return there this year before engagements in Baltimore and in Washington where the big top entertainers will play for President Eisenhower and the members of his cabinet early in June.

Zone Chairman Jennings B. Collins, Gettysburg, addressed the club on the work of Lionism in local communities and throughout the world and inducted these new members: Richard Bradford, Orrtanna; C. L. Sheads, Fairfield, and "Jim" Lott, near Fairfield.

Discuss Cub Pack
The Lions discussed the possibility of having the club sponsor a Cub Pack in Fairfield. No final action was taken.

The club donated $10 to the Larry Kepner Fund of the Adams County Crippled Children's Society.

The entertainment program for the evening was a film, "Word of Honor," produced by the Kaiser-Frazer Company. The meeting was held in the Lutheran Parish House with the president, John Reindollar, presiding.

Although Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected to four terms as U.S. President, he served only two complete terms, his first being curtailed by the 20th Amendment to the Constitution and his last by death.

PINEY MT. INN

Line and John A. Baker of R. 1, president and secretary, respectively, of the corporation in the presence of Attorneys George C. Eppinger and George S. Black, representing the home and Mr. Dice, respectively. Witnesses from the home board were Frank A. Shoop, treasurer, of Shippensburg, and the Rev. Dr. Clyde W. Meadows, pastor of the King Street United Brethren Church of Chambersburg.

Purchase of the inn for use as a home was recommended to the Milton Wright home last year by the official board of the Pennsylvania Conference of the United Brethren Church.

To Occupy April 1

Occupation of the Inn as a home for the aged has been set tentatively for April 1. The board is now assembling a staff. The Rev. Arbe J. Dorsey, pastor of the Heidlersburg, Idaville and Mt. Olivet U.B. Churches has been elected superintendent.

Rev. Dorsey said today, however, that he had not "made up his mind" whether he would accept the appointment. He said if he does, it will mean giving up his pastorate of the three churches and devoting all his time to the affairs of the home.

The Inn includes 48 guest rooms in addition to complete dining room facilities, which will permit the Milton Wright home, according to its officials, to increase the number of elderly guests it now has.

Purchase of the Inn was decided upon because of crowded conditions at the home at Kauffman's Station, which required either construction of a new building or purchase of a building to house the aged guests there. The latter, church leaders said, will continue in operation but will specialize in caring for children. The 14 old people now at the Kauffman's Station institution will be invited to go to Piney Mountain or will be permitted to remain where they now are if they prefer.

Incorporated In 1921
The Milton Wright Home was incorporated in 1921 and has through the years provided for 276 children and 97 aged persons. There are now 46 children and 14 aged persons at the home.

The home was originally started and has since been operated by the United Brethren Church (Old Constitution) but its services have never been nor is it contemplated that either of the homes will be limited to members of the United Brethren Church, the Rev. Mr. Brechbiel, chairman of the board, said.

Churches of the denomination in the Pennsylvania Conference have been assigned quotas toward payment for the new institution.

The Piney Mountain real estate includes approximately 26 acres of land with 600-foot frontage on the Lincoln Highway, running to a depth of 2,000 feet on the north side of the highway and 30 feet on the south side.

Has 48 Rooms

There are three stone buildings on the property; the inn, which will become the home for the aged; a dwelling house and a 12-car garage. The inn has 48 rooms for guests, some of which are double rooms with twin beds. Each room has hot and cold running water, telephone connections with the office, and proper furniture, including rugs, bedding, blankets and draperies. Several sets of toilets and bath rooms are located on each floor.

The first floor is given to a large lobby and lounging room, office, dining room to seat 130 people,

SOME LOOSE CHANGE... a few dollar bills... in a little tin box. In business they call it "petty cash." Every home has its "petty cash" too... maybe in Mother's sugar bowl. And isn't it amazing how low "petty cash" gets by the time next payday rolls around? If you figure on saving "what's left," you may not get very far. Lt. Dopp's Mustache Nets Over $300 For Polio Fund

The March of Dimes is more than $300 richer because of Lt. James W. Dopp's mustache.

Lt. Dopp, brother of Mrs. Robert J. Staub, Biglerville R. 1, who has served in the Marine Corps and now is an air force officer serving in Korea, wrote his sister here the details of how his mustache, shown in the accompanying photograph, came off as a fund raiser for the polio fund in the war zone of Korea.

Lt. Dopp, now 27, had made his home at the Red Rock Poultry farm owned by his sister and brother-in-law from time to time while not with the armed forces.

Bushiest Of All

In a letter to Mrs. Staub, Lt. Dopp wrote: "Ol' Dopp got to be sort of the center of attraction in these here parts (Korea). You are pretty well aware of the past history of my facial adornments, in that every chance I've dared take in the past, I've immediately grown a big scraggly mustache. The first one cost me friends and ease in the Marine corps, the second one got me in dutch with my family, the third one irritated the liver out of my squadron CO (commanding officer), but Dopp grew a fourth. Truly it was the best and bushiest of the bunch."

"Now don't quit, finish reading this, because it turned out OK. I started it the tenth of August, and it got to measure over six inches. Had been able to train it not to grow into my mouth, and with the help of a little extra care and rolling the upper lip back, could even handle soup with no trouble. Well all and passed various comments on it, but nobody did anything about it. The base commander remarked a week or so ago that it was in need of corraling, so I got some mustache wax and constrained it a bit."

"Got to be pretty much a means of identification. The day the B-26's blew up, it was the means by which I was identified as the boy who was running around on my side of the ramp 'whence all but he had fled.' And it matched the squadron color (red). But fate had been but biding its time. Soon it struck."

"Comes the March of Dimes. Comes the one money raising program which is supported by the men in the ranks... the GI respects the Salvation Army and the March of Dimes. Cause they know those two come through."

"Went to work Sunday morning and Harvey wants a contribution. Then he calmly lets me read the note in the pot. I see by the note that the local radio station was running a marathon program of raising money. By contributing you could get whatever song you wished played for you. And if your squadron was the greatest contributor, it owned the station."

"The night before the bomber squadron had been having a good battle, but the announcer was getting sort of snooty about the lack of contributions by the fighter wing. That was when the staff got 77 bucks together and I took it down."

"Then I read that the squadron was pledged to raise 100 bucks in order to purchase ol' Dopp's pride and glory—my mustache."

"I was not only all broke up at the prospective loss, I was piqued at the cheap sell-out price. So I called the CO and stated that I'd go along with the gag if they raised the ante to $250. He thought it was a high type idea, and they swore they'd raise the cash, so they notified the radio station that the heat was on. I'm proud to say the boys dug up $325 in the middle of the month to shave the thing, and an additional ten bucks was wanted to buy the hair. Group headquarters assembled $110 to keep the mustache on. Gave the announcer something to say all day long."

"Then we gave them a real show."

"The mustache was shaved on the stage of the base theater at 7:30 in the evening. The squadron CO officiated. In fact, until his hand was so shaky he didn't dare continue, he shaved. The biggest contributor, my line chief, Sgt. Davis, did the rest of the hacking. They mostly used a straight razor, but they also rang in a pair of scissors and even a pair of dikes. But it came off—blood and all."

UPPER ADAMS TO ASK SCHOOL BIDS NEXT WEEK

The Upper Adams Joint School System should be ready to ask for bids for construction of new elementary schools at Arendtsville and Biglerville by the beginning of next week.

Plans were completed Tuesday afternoon for a meeting Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at Biglerville High School between Architect J. Alfred Hamme, of York; the law firm of Swope, Brown and Swope, which serves as solicitors for the joint district; the authority headed by J. D. Miller as chairman, and the members of the Biglerville and Arendtsville school boards which are serving as the building committees for their respective schools.

"We even had music for the occasion. The engineering officer played a mouth organ and the first sergeant played the guitar."

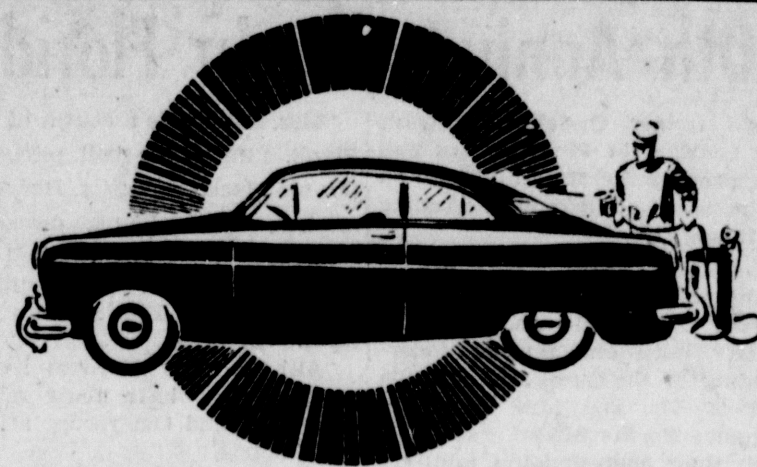

In his letter to his sister, the Air Force officer who holds a master of education degree from Cornell University and who has served two years with the Marines and the past three years with the Air Force wrote from Korea of his current service there! "Been busier than a one-armed paperhanger with the itch lately. Haven't got too much to show for it, but the time passes quick that way. Got less than six months to do now (until he has completed his service in Korea). Like a convict."

Final plans for the construction of the two schools, which will be similar in construction to the new school recently completed at Bendersville, were turned over to school authorities Tuesday afternoon by the architect.

At Friday night's meeting the entire matter will be turned over to the authority, which will provide the funds for the actual building, and to which the school boards will pay rent for the buildings until they are paid for. At that session plans will be made for advertising for bids, and then after bids are opened and the amount of cost for the schools determined the authority will have the work of selling bonds to pay for the planned construction.

The joint district hopes to be able to open bids about the beginning of April, and if all goes

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County

This is the 52nd in a series of historical talks given over Radio Station WGET by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Adeline Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

In the Adams Centinel, then the only newspaper in Adams County, in its issue of Wednesday, October 3, 1816, the following notice appeared:

"Thaddeus Stevens, attorney-at-law, has opened an office in the east end of the Gettysburg Hotel, occupied by Mr. Keefe, where he will give diligent attention to all orders in the line of his profession."

This notice was dated October 1, 1816.

Thus, a little over 136 years ago, Gettysburg and Adams County were notified that a new resident had appeared. Who was this man? What was his coming to mean to Gettysburg and Adams County? Answers to these questions will be the subject of this and the following articles.

Admitted To Bar

There was no particular notice taken at the time of the newspaper announcement of the man who paid to have it inserted. There had been no great stir in the Adams County Court when, at an adjourned session of the court on September 24, 1816, action was taken which is recorded in the official record as follows:

"Thaddeus Stevens, Esq., was admitted an attorney and took the oaths prescribed by law."

Thaddeus Stevens was born on April 4, 1792, in Danville Center, Danville Twp., Caledonia County, Vermont. When he was 14 years old the family moved to the village of Peacham, so that the children could enter the Caledonia County Grammar School. Thaddeus was graduated from the grammar school and then entered college, completing his course at Dartmouth in the autumn of 1814.

The next year, seeking wider opportunities, he went to York, Pa., where he read law while teaching in the York County Academy. In the summer of 1816 he considered that he was prepared for the practice of law, but the rule of the York County Bar was that two years of preparation be made, and Thaddeus had had only one year in York. He therefore rode to Bellair, Harford County, Maryland, and was quickly admitted there.

Selected Gettysburg

He had no intention of remaining in Maryland, and immediately left, riding north, moving toward the little county seat of a little, new county in Pennsylvania. Why he had chosen to settle in Gettysburg, to practice at the bar of Adams County, is not known. He seems to have had assurance that he would be admitted to practice in Adams County, by transfer of this privilege from Harford County.

And so he came to Gettysburg in September of 1816. He was then 24 years old. He was to remain in Gettysburg 26 years, removing to Lancaster in 1842. There he lived for 26 years until his death in 1868. It is thus clear that one half of his active life was spent in Gettysburg. Here he developed and became the man of power and strength that he was. These were his formative years, and they were his best years.

Those who noted his coming at all saw a tall, strong figure of a markedly athletic nature. This was not misleading, notwithstanding that he walked with a very noticeable limp, because he was born with a club foot. But he was nevertheless athletic. He was a superb horseman and rode spirited horses all the time of his residence in Gettysburg. His complexion was dark, with black hair and dark eyes. His manner was stern and sober.

Gets Murder Case

Coming as he did without connections in this strange community, it was a question whether he could develop a law practice and make a living. All he had to offer was his ability. Although there were six other lawyers practicing in a small county in which at best there could not be very much business, on October 9, 1816 he filed his first case, a small matter, and won. He found some cases in the months that followed as attorney for creditors in small collections or for appeals from decisions of the local justices of the peace, but he is said to have remarked that he could not hold out much longer with such cases, and must seek a new location.

He did not have to seek a new location, for his big chance came in defending, on the charge of murder, James Hunter, who on June 18, 1817, had killed a neighbor.

Heavy. In the trial Stevens made a strong impression by reason of his manner and method of defense, and even though Hunter was convicted and afterward hanged, Stevens' reputation was made, and he quickly became a leader of the bar. The fee which he received was comparatively large, but the great benefit to him was in the increase in the demand for his services.

Largest Taxpayer

He became not only the leader of the local bar for the next 25 years but he became a prominent figure in the bar of the state, appearing frequently in important cases in the higher courts. It was this position of leadership which made it seem wise to him to seek a larger field of operation when he decided to remove to Lancaster in 1842.

Becoming successful in his profession, and satisfied to continue to live in this community, he began to acquire property, and by 1830 he had become the largest individual taxpayer in Gettysburg, and had large holdings outside the borough, which made him one of the largest taxpayers in the county.

In 1820 he was assessed on a house and half a lot at the value of $1,500, and he also paid an occupation tax on an assessment of $300, which was the same assessment paid by David McConaughy who was then recognized to be the leading lawyer in the county. In 1830 he was assessed on property of the total value of $12,209, and an occupation of the value of $1,000, which was as high or higher than any other individual. Yet because of extensive business interests, mainly in the operation of the Caledonia iron works, he fell heavily into debt, and this debt and his desire to liquidate it, was the principal reason why, in 1842, he removed to Lancaster where he would have greater opportunities in the practice of law.

Supported Worthy Causes

Some estimates of his total indebtedness in 1842 run as high as $200,000. Be that as it may, all debts were finally paid, and his estate when finally settled in the 1890s yielded more than $50,000 free and clear. He never married, but he was generous to members of his family, and he was lavish in his spending, especially in his charities. Some of the legends which have grown up around his memory emphasize his generosity to those in need, and his support of worthy causes.

Very naturally, especially in those early days, a young lawyer in any community would be interested in politics and take an active part in political affairs. Stevens' political preference was with the Federalist party which, while it was no longer in control in national and state politics, was the leading party of Adams County. Stevens' first political activity seems to have been as a member of a Committee of Correspondence of the young men of the county who were supporting Joseph Heister against William Findlay for governor of the commonwealth. Heister had the support of the old line Federalists and received 1,622 votes to Findlay's 674 in Adams County.

Several Affiliations

When the Federalist Party finally passed out of existence, Stevens supported parties and candidates who were opposed to the Jeffersonian, and later the Jacksonian Democracy. He was a National Republican, an Anti-Mason, a Whig, and finally a Republican, in succession.

His first elected office was that of member of the borough council in 1822, in which for about ten years he was in and out as a member, serving in 1822, 1825, 1827 and 1831. By 1830 he was an ardent member of the Anti-Masonic Party, and indeed became not only the leader of this party in the state, but also in the nation. He was an anti-mason for two reasons: First, because of conviction, and secondly, because for the years of the 1830s it was the most effective opponent of Jacksonianism, particularly in Pennsylvania.

Anti-Masonry was strong in Adams County and Stevens became its leader. The party made its appeal here for several reasons: First, because when the Federalist Party went out of existence the controlling Federalist group needed a new party to continue opposition to the Democratic Party which was growing in strength in Adams County; secondly, because of the strong Catholic element in several parts of the county, and thirdly, because of the sincere conviction of many persons that secret oathbound societies were dangerous to democratic government.

Controversial Figure

It was through the Anti-Masonic Party that Stevens became a

BIGLERVILLE AG. TEACHER GETS NEW POST

The appointment of Cecil R. Snyder, Main St., Biglerville as associate in Adams and York Counties was announced today by B. Carl Wharton, Harrisburg, general agent for the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Philadelphia.

Snyder is starting his duties as a life insurance agent after nearly 16 years as teacher of agricultural education in Biglerville High School.

A graduate of Fawn Twp. vocational high school in 1933, he received his bachelor of science degree from Pennsylvania State College in 1937 and his master of science degree from that institution in 1944.

Joins Underwriters

He resigned as a teacher at the high school at the end of 1952 to accept the post with Fidelity Mutual.

CECIL R. SNYDER

Two weeks ago he joined the Hanover-Gettysburg branch of the Pennsylvania Life Underwriters' Association of which his immediate superior, Mr. Wharton, is president.

After serving 16 years as an agricultural teacher in which he established one of the outstanding agricultural departments in the state and one which was among the first to be used for student training by State College, Snyder says, "It was very difficult for me to leave my work at the Biglerville school, but I hope to counsel and serve the same people in a different but very important matter."

He is married to the former Helen M. Ormer of Bendersville. They have two children living, Carroll Cecil, aged 10, and Beth Arleen, aged one. A son, Gregory Lee, died in 1951.

powerful and controversial political figure in Adams County. As the party's candidate he was elected in 1833 for his first term in the Pennsylvania Legislature, and he was elected again in 1834 and 1835. He was defeated in 1836, but was elected again in 1837 and 1838. He was elected a canal commissioner in 1838. At that point the Anti-Masonic Party lost control of the government of Pennsylvania, and soon passed out of existence.

Stevens then affiliated with the Whig Party and was elected to the Pennsylvania Legislature as a Whig to serve in 1842. This was his last year as a resident of Adams County, and with this office his political activities in Adams County ended. During his six terms as a member of the lower house of the Pennsylvania Legislature he was one of its leading members, and promoted much legislation. Other phases of his activity as a resident of Adams County will be presented in the next article.

AVERAGE SIZE PEACH CROP IS SEEN THIS YEAR

There will be an average crop of peaches in 1953, according to the estimate worked out at the 12th annual meeting of the National Peach Council held at Spartanburg, S. C., last week.

Frederic E. Griest, Flora Dale, who represented this area at the council sessions, said today the representatives from the country's peach producing states are estimating the 1953 crop at 65,995,000 bushels, more than 4,000,000 more than the 61,425,000 bushel crop of 1952. The estimate, however, is slightly lower than the 66,583,000 bushel average crop based on the years 1941 through 1950.

Pennsylvania is expected to come close to its usual 2,000,000 bushels. Last year the state produced 2,280,000 bushels, the year before it was 2,352,000 bushels, and the state's peach growers expect production to be up near those figures again this year.

Buds Ahead Of Normal
Griest said the outstanding part of the report from all over the country was the fact that not one section has suffered a loss so far this year. But the warm weather, particularly in the south this winter, has growers on tenterhooks, Griest said.

Peaches need a certain amount of "chilling"—cold weather, depending on species of tree. And the warm weather has put the bud production about ten days ahead of normal—which will probably cause the buds to be at the point where they are most susceptible to freezing just about the time that cold weather is most likely to catch them.

State Is Fifth

The report shows that Pennsylvania ranks fifth among all states in peach production. First is California, where 30,127,000 bushels were produced last year and the crop is estimated for 35,000,000 bushels this year. Second is Michigan with 3,397,000 bushels; South Carolina with 3,286,000 bushels, is third, Georgia is fourth with 2,496,000 and then comes Pennsylvania with 2,280,000.

What can happen from a bad freeze at the wrong time is illustrated, Griest said, by the experience of Michigan. Usually producing near 4,000,000 bushels yearly, in 1951 its peach crop was practically wiped out, and produced only 728,000 bushels.

Illinois was another state to suffer a 1951 setback, Griest pointed out. It usually produced nearly 2,000,000 bushels. In 1951 it had only 182,000 bushels.

CONSISTENCY CHIEF PROBLEM NOW FOR GOP

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans' problem at the moment is how to be consistent with their promises of the past without causing more trouble with Russia than they can foresee.

As a party on the outside looking in, they made political capital with attacks on what they called secret agreements between Democratic administrations and Stalin. (The Democrats saw eye-to-eye with them in being angry at Stalin for breaking those agreements. He had promised to let the Eastern Europeans choose their own governments but he forced communism on them.)

Promised Repudiation
So it was not surprising that in their political platform last year the Republicans summed up much of what they had been saying for years with this promise:

"The government of the United States, under Republican leadership, will repudiate all commitments contained in secret understandings such as those at Yalta which aid Communist enslavement."

"It will be made clear, on the highest authority of the President and Congress, that United States policy, as one of its peaceful purposes, looks happily forward to the genuine independence of those captive peoples."

Feared Retaliation
Since they won, it is up to the Republicans to carry out this campaign pledge.

But after he got into the White House President Eisenhower said he did not know of any agreements still secret in the sense of not being known. Some, he said, were secret in the sense that the Senate had not approved them.

And his administration began to back away from that word "repudiate" now that it had responsibility for what might happen from using it.

(If this government, the President and Congress, repudiated some agreements with Russia the Communists might retaliate by repudiating others in a place — Berlin, for instance—which might cause this country grave difficulty.)

Proposed Resolution
Eisenhower, still wanting to carry out as much of the campaign pledge as possible while giving hope to the enslaved, suggested to Congress a resolution he would like it to pass.

In part it said: "...The U. S. rejects any interpretations or applications of any international agreements or understandings, made during the course of World War II, which have been perverted to bring about the subjugation of free peoples..."

That was much milder than the Republican platform pledge.

Democrats Mad, Too
It suited the Democrats in Congress all right, since they were mad at Stalin too, and this kind of resolution didn't criticize the agreements made by Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

But Republicans in Congress weren't satisfied. They'd been banging away at those agreements a long time. Wary of using the word "repudiate" in the resolution, they still wanted to express some reservations about those resolutions.

So yesterday Republicans on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee decided to add this sentence to the resolution suggested by Dulles: "The adoption of this resolution does not constitute any determination by the congress as to the validity or invalidity of any of the provisions of the said agreements and understandings."

Showdown Coming
This certainly cast doubt on what Roosevelt and Truman had done.

At once some Democrats raised the question: "How can Congress denounce Stalin for breaking agreements which Congress isn't willing to recognize as agreements?"

The showdown will come when the resolution—and the extra sentence—are brought up in the Senate for a vote.

At Least 6 Perish In Factory Blaze

NEW YORK (AP)—At least six persons—five of them women—perished in a lightning-quick fire that flashed through a Bronx furniture factory Tuesday. Firemen said "there may be more loss of life."

The six bodies were brought out by gas-masked firemen, who braved flames and dense smoke to rush inside the two-story structure at River Ave. and 150th St.

Scores of panicky workers fled from the building when the blaze broke out.

Some were slightly hurt in their dash to the street.

The furniture company, the Utility Airtite Manufacturing Co., was situated on the ground floor, and employed 120 men and women.

Argentine Dictator Unhurt In Explosion

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A powerful bomb planted in a luggage checkroom in the Buenos Aires railway station exploded on Monday a few minutes before President Juan D. Peron returned by special train from his state visit to Chile.

Peron's car was halted about 100 yards from the site of the explosion, which ripped a big hole in the checkroom wall and shattered windshields of cars parked outside.

The only casualty reported was a boy who suffered facial cuts. A few persons nearby fainted and received first aid treatment.

Police took in all 10 employees of the checkroom for questioning.

The railways and all parts of the station are owned and operated by the government and the clerks are government employes.

SHOULD OUTLAW STRIKES, NAM TELLS CONGRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers today asked Congress to outlaw industry-wide strikes and outlaw all forms of "compulsory unionism."

The NAM claims to represent 85 per cent of the nation's manufacturing capacity and to have more than 9,000 members.

In a statement prepared for the House Labor Committee, George W. Armstrong Jr., chairman of the association's Industrial Relations Committee, said:

"Aside from compulsory unionism, the greatest source of monopoly powers lies in industry-wide bargaining."

On those two proposals, the AFL, CIO and other organized labor groups have taken a position precisely opposite to that outlined by the NAM.

The House committee is holding extensive hearings on proposed changes to the Taft-Hartley Act, the nation's basic labor law since 1947. AFL President George Meany testified yesterday.

Armstrong accused the Truman administration of failing to administer the law "as it was sworn to administer all laws." He charged the former administration attacked the law "in an effort to shake public confidence in the soundness of such legislation." The Taft-Hartley law was passed over the veto of former President Truman.

Means Separate Unions
On the question of industry-wide bargaining, Armstrong said:

"Where collective bargaining exists it should be carried on at the company and plant level. The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) should not be permitted to certify a common bargaining agent for the employees of more than one competing employer."

This would mean employees of competing employers would be organized into separate unions. In last year's big steel dispute, for example, it would have meant that each steel company would have bargained with a separate union instead of all bargaining with Philip Murray, late president of the CIO United Steelworkers.

Survey Of Election Laws Is Requested

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General Assembly was asked on Monday to order a survey of Pennsylvania's election laws to see if they need to be revised.

Rep. Francis Worley (R-Adams) introduced a resolution calling on the Joint State Government Commission—the lawmakers' fact-finding agency—to report results of the survey to the 1955 Legislature.

"I have heard reports of various election frauds," Worley said, "and I think it is time we take a look at one of our most important institutions—our election machinery."

Fifth Occupant In Crash-Car Expires

WELLSBORO, Pa. (AP)—The death toll of a collision of two automobiles increased to five over the week end with the death of Mrs. Harry Peterson, 40, of Wellsboro. Peterson and three other persons were killed in the crash Friday at a highway intersection, near here. Mrs. Peterson died Saturday in the Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial Hospital here.

Four other passengers were injured in the crash.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Peterson those who met death were Merdin Cook, 33, and Shirley McCullough, 25, both of nearby Westfield, and Clyde Tucker, 25, Pleasantville, Pa.

WAR PACTS NOT AFFECTED BY RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles agree that a resolution to condemn Russian "enslavement" of other peoples in no way affects World War II big power agreements.

Taft's statement was in reply to Democratic taunts that by revising the wording of the resolution originally submitted by Dulles the Republicans had "emasculated" a cold war propaganda device sought by the President.

Whether it had any legal effect or not, the revision stirred up a lot of Democratic opposition. Thus it may have jeopardized chances for the overwhelming vote Dulles has said it needs to have any propaganda effect.

Validity Not Affected

Taft declared in an interview: "Both Mr. Dulles and President Eisenhower agree that nothing in the present resolution is intended to affect the validity or the status — whatever it is — of the Yalta agreements in one way or another."

Taft, the Republican Senate leader, would not go so far as to say, however, that Eisenhower and Dulles specifically approve an addition made to the resolution yesterday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

By an 8-6 vote largely on party lines, the committee wrote into the resolution a declaration that its adoption would "not constitute any determination by the Congress as to the validity or invalidity of any of the said agreements or understandings."

Johnson Open Fire

This was done over Democratic opposition to satisfy what Taft and Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said were demands—largely from Republicans—that Congress should not affirm the agreements made by Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Truman at Yalta and other conferences.

"A lot of people denounced the Yalta agreements in the campaign and now don't want to be put in the position of affirming them," Smith said.

Despite the obvious risk that the Democrats, who condemned the change roundly, might not go along, the Senate Republican Policy Committee voted unanimously to stand behind the committee's action. Its chairman, Sen. Knowland of California, said he knows that after the Democrats study the revised resolution they will decide to support it.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas opened immediate fire with a declaration that he would "oppose any effort to attach partisan amendments that will jeopardize the President's prestige before the country and the world."

Boy Is Killed In Train, Auto Crash

LOCK HAVEN (AP)—The collision of a speeding New York Central freight train and an automobile at a rural crossing caused the death of a six-year-old boy and injured his father.

Kenneth Dale Killinger and his father, Arnold, were driving near their Beach Creek home southwest of here Monday when the accident occurred. The youth died at Lock Haven Hospital with a fractured skull. His father suffered a fractured arm and other injuries.

The elder Killinger told police he stopped at the crossing and then proceeded without seeing any train.

Expects Democrats To Stage Comeback

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) says he has a hunch Democrats will regain leadership of Congress "in something less than four years." Jackson spoke Friday night at the annual meeting of the Philadelphia chapter of the Americans for Democratic Action.

"All I can do," Jackson quipped, "is report my observation in Washington that the Republicans, astute and business-like as they are, are renting apartments—they are not buying houses."

For two-thirds of the people of the world, life expectancy at birth is about 30 years, compared with more than 60 years for the more advanced countries.

Aged Couple Is Burned To Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An elderly couple burned to death Tuesday in a fire that swept the top floors of four houses in North Philadelphia. The dead were William Mitchell, 80, and his wife, Laura, 78. They occupied a single room on the fourth floor of one of the structures.

Firemen said the blaze started shortly before dawn. Cause is unknown.

The flames spread down the stairways, and to the adjoining structures. A heavy blanket of smoke covered the area.

Battalion Chief Frank Finestone said: "On account of the delayed alarm the fire gained too much headway. We were fortunate in confining the blaze to the top floors. We didn't have time to save the Mitchells."

Some 21 other persons in the buildings fled safely.

MALENKOV IS IN LEAD FOR STALIN'S POST

WASHINGTON (AP)—The name of Georgi M. Malenkov led all the rest in Washington speculation on a possible successor to the gravely ill Joseph Stalin, but Russian specialists said anything could happen in the event of the Premier's early death.

Malenkov, like V. M. Molotov a deputy premier, seems to outside observers to have strengthened his position as chief claimant to Stalin's mantle greatly in recent years. He took a particularly prominent role in last fall's Russian Communist Party Congress. He is a close associate of Stalin.

In recent years, American officials specializing on Soviet affairs have considered that the succession would be worked out in one of three ways:

Might Be Conflict

1. Malenkov may succeed Stalin. This belief is a development of the last year or so. In that time Malenkov has emerged steadily as the key man, so far as it is possible to judge here.

2. A committee or triumvirate might be formed to direct Soviet affairs, set policy and make over all executive decisions until a new leader emerged.

3. There might be a quick and perhaps bloody conflict among the chief contenders for the succession. This has ordinarily been thought of by the experts as more like a palace revolution than a national struggle.

OUSTED PROF. IS ASKED TO TALK

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dr. Barrows Dunham, suspended Temple University professor, has been invited by a group of 300 university students to explain his actions before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Temple President Robert L. Johnson suspended Dunham Sunday night. Dunham forced the suspension, Johnson said, by "deliberately creating a doubt as to your loyalty status."

Dunham's actions, the president added, violated Pennsylvania's Loyalty Oath Law.

When he appeared before the House committee last Friday Dunham declined to answer any questions other than those pertaining to his name, age and address.

There was no immediate indication as to who is sponsoring the student meeting or where it would be held.

At their meeting on Monday, the students also voted to ask university officials to conduct a hearing on Dunham's case and asked that the hearing recommendations be "the final action in the case."

DARK IS GIVEN 2-YEAR TERMS; KINER UNSIGNED

By BEN OLAN
AP Sports Writer

It took a long time for Alvin Dark and the New York Giants to get together on contract terms and it will probably take the rest of the spring training season for Manager Leo Durocher to decide where the 30-year-old infielder will play this year.

Dark finally agreed to sign a contract yesterday. A telephone conversation with Giant President Horace Stoneham rang the bell for a two-year pact calling for an estimated $32,500. Dark is the first Giant player since Walker Cooper in 1946 to receive a two-year contract.

On the other holdout fronts, Ralph Kiner was in the Pittsburgh doghouse yesterday. Kiner, reportedly barking for some $76,000 of the Bucs' cash, remains at his Palm Springs, Calif., home and his absence from the Pirates' Havana quarters is causing no end of anguish to President John Galbreath.

Wynn And Doby In For Talks

"With Kiner, baseball should come first," Galbreath said yesterday. "He should be thinking about the other members of the squad instead of his sideline occupations." The husky outfielder owns a gift shop in Palm Springs.

At Tucson, General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians reported pitcher Early Wynn and outfielder Larry Doby would come to camp shortly to discuss salary. Both spent the first week of training at home.

Current guesses are that Doby is shooting for $35,000 and Wynn for $40,000. Neither Wynn nor Doby will be able to work out with the Indians until their pay dispute is settled.

Plan Reports On Truckers On Road

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Safety experts from trucking companies in 10 states have taken home a new plan by which reports on driving practices of truck drivers will be relayed quickly to the driver's home company.

Under the plan, discussed on Friday at a meeting here of eastern and mid-western trucking representatives, highway safety patrols would send reports of good or bad driving to the driver's home state trucking association. The association would then forward the report to the trucking company.

O. D. Shipley, safety director of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, said highway patrols are maintained by Truck associations or companies in about 12 eastern states. The average annual cost of maintaining a highway patrol car is nearly $12,000 annually.

CANADA SAVES PA. FROM SNOW

By The Associated Press

A mass of cold air traveling down from Canada wedged its way southward through Pennsylvania and saved most of the state from a blanket of snow promised by the Weather Bureau.

The forecast for snow was issued by the Weather Bureau on Monday but the northward moving storm area that was to have brought it was pushed back and is now off the coast of Delaware. The Weather Bureau said there is little likelihood of anything more than rain—possibly by tonight.

Western Pennsylvania did get a few flakes of snow but not enough to measure.

Temperatures over the state ranged to the upper 30's. A low of just above freezing is predicted for tonight.

REAL ESTATE FRAUD LANDS MAN IN JAIL

NEW YORK (AP)—A 50-year-old Pennsylvanian has been arrested on charges of selling cheap real estate at fancy prices to people he allegedly scared by saying Russia would "blow up" New York City.

Adolphus Hohenesee of East Benton, Pa., was held in $500 bail yesterday on a charge of violating New York state's real property law by failing to provide sufficient identification of the land he sold.

Has Police Record

State Atty. Gen. Nathaniel L. Goldstein said witnesses quoted Hohenesee as telling his customers that Russia will "come over here, fix the water, blow up the city."

Goldstein added that Hohenesee told clients, "If any trouble comes, we'd have some place to go." Complainants said Hohenesee sold East Benton lots worth $45 for as much as $2,000 each.

Goldstein said Hohenesee is a self-styled health lecturer, once convicted of mail fraud and arrested on charges of misbranding medicines and drugs.

Navy Developing Atomic Bombardiers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is developing a corps of atomic bombardiers—fliers and ordnance experts trained in the high-level and secret schools of nuclear weapon use.

Graduates of these courses already are at sea with the fleet or at naval air stations flying carrier-based aircraft presumably capable of delivering any current type of atomic bomb.

Pentagon officials today would confirm only that such a program exists.

Ernest Simpson, chairman of the Tennis Court Committee, reported that the committee had decided to build a court instead of blacktop courts at the Recreation Park. Simpson said that there was less danger of injury from falls on clay courts, and that balls bounced better than on the blacktop.

IRAN PREMIER CHARGES PLOT IN SHAH'S COURT

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Premier Mohammad Mossadegh kept up his fight today in his struggle for power with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, demanding that Parliament intervene in alleged royal court intrigues against his government.

The move was disclosed last night by the semi-official newspaper Bakhtar Emrooz as Tehran returned closer to normal after riotous demonstrations in which three persons were killed and an estimated 60 injured since Saturday.

Bakhtar Emrooz said Mossadegh is insisting that Parliament approach the royal court and demand elimination of intrigues. The newspaper asserted that the Premier has threatened to call a referendum of the people if the palace does not take action against the alleged plotters.

Premier May Resign

If the referendum is favorable to him, the newspaper said, the Premier will be in a position to act for himself. If the vote goes against him, he will resign, it added.

Just when parliament could take any action was not clear, however. The legislators, scheduled to consider a motion of confidence in the Premier, were prevented from meeting yesterday when opposition deputies boycotted the session. There were indications, though, that some oppositionists were now tending toward the Mossadegh banner.

The capital city was quiet today. Shops and bazaars that closed down at the start of the trouble Saturday night were beginning to open. With the apparent passing of the crisis, 28 pro-Mossadegh deputies moved out of their refuge in the Parliament Building and returned home.

Weather Forecast

Extended forecast for the period Wednesday, March 4, through Sunday, March 8:

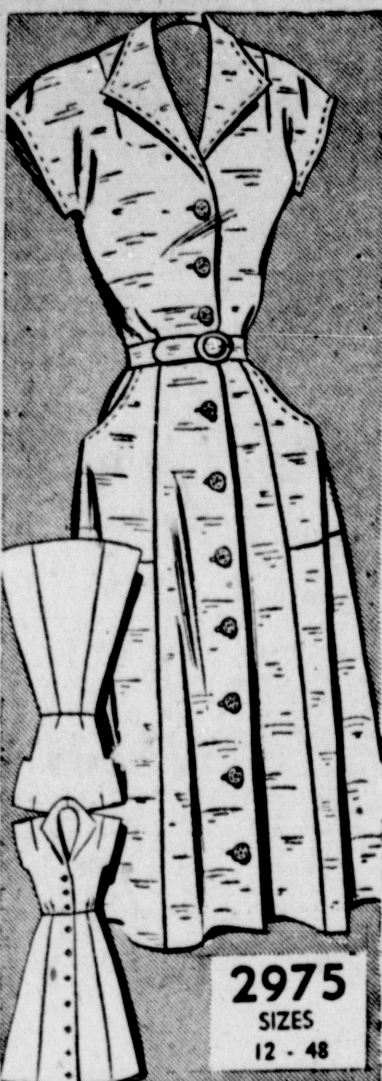

Eastern Pennsylvania, Eastern New York and mid-Atlantic states: Temperature will average three or four degrees above normal with slowly rising temperature Wednesday, and more rapid warming remainder of week; precipitation, mostly rain, with some snow northern area Wednesday and probably Thursday, and again over the week end.

Western Pennsylvania, Western New York, Ohio and West Virginia: Temperature will average well above normal, with rising trend followed by some cooler Saturday or Sunday; precipitation mostly as rain on Wednesday and again about Saturday.
